

Apple iPhone Headlines: Check The Divine Comedy On Your Apple iPhone

The Divine Comedy, which the English language translation of La Divina Comedia, is definitely an epic poem masterpiece written by Dante Alighieri, a well-regarded Italian poet, who is also regarded as "Father of the Italian Language." Interestingly, Divina Comedia, was not its original title. It was first known as La Grande Commedia. The Italian adjective, "Divina" was later added by Giovanni Boccaccio, who himself is a popular Italian poet. The plot of the Divine Comedy is all about Dante's trip into Hell (Inferno), Purgatory (Purgatorio) and Heaven (Paradiso). In his trip into Hell and Purgatory, he's accompanied by the Roman poet, Virgil, then when he was at Paradise, he was escorted by Beatrice. The whole composition has 3 chapters. The first section, Hell has 34 canti, the 2nd section, Purgatory has 36 canti, and Heaven, the third chapter, has 33 canti.
